social transformation programs

for more than 20 years, our work in social transformation has promoted the sustainable development of our partner communities through actions that encourage inclusion, social protagonism and networking, especially among youth.

through cultural, sports and educational programs, we operate on five fronts: cpfl young generation, cpfl in hospitals, cpfl brazil china exchange, cpfl circuit and café filosófico cpfl, in the communities where the cpfl group operates.

it aims to develop the future of children and adolescents through sports and culture, contributing to the reduction of the levels of social vulnerability of partner communities.

it integrates energy efficiency initiatives and private social investment to drive improvements in the care of public health institutions, through humanization and hospital improvements.

it provides itinerant activities throughout the brazilian territory, circulating movie sessions, democratizing access to culture.

_music

the energia sonora is a musical education project that aims to teach approximately 300 young people to play percussion and keyboard instruments. all participants need to be enrolled in public schools and the activities are always carried out during the school off-hours.

some initiatives supported by us involve working across multiple fronts, which we refer to as “cross projects.” now, let’s explore an example that connects the cpfl young generation and cpfl brazil-china exchange fronts.

the anelo institute, our partner associated with the cpfl young generation, assists children and young people in situations of social vulnerability through musical activities such as singing and instrumental practices.

this project has connected with the cpfl brazil-china exchange front as these young individuals now have access to chinese culture through singing lessons in mandarin and musicalization with chinese drums. this expansion of knowledge and cultural integration provides them with the opportunity to dream beyond anelo institute student is a world semifinalist in a chinese singing contest

maria eduarda santos nascimento, known as duda, a 20-year-old student from anelo institute in campinas, has achieved an impressive feat: she became the national champion of the copa cubo da água de canto chinês (cubed water cup of chinese singing) held in são paulo in may. her victory secured her a spot in the world semifinals of the competition. duda and two other talented young participants from the project received awards at the event. during the competition, they showcased their mandarin singing skills, which they developed in just two months of classes with professor jia sun costa at the institution.

the challenge was encouraged by the teacher and the institution, resulting in prominent positions. in addition to champion duda, nicoly alessandra rosa da silva, aged 17, secured second place, while rafael oliveira cordeiro, also 17, came in fourth. they were awarded R$ 1,500, R$ 1,000, and R$ 300, respectively. the students competed in the category open to brazilians (referred to as the “foreign group”).

transformed lives bryan

bryan, is 12 years old and is one of the students of the anelo institute, he shares his testimony about how the project has transformed his life and is opening new paths for a better future.

“the project is truly fascinating because it provides a rare and incredible opportunity. it has the potential to open up numerous paths, both now and in the future. learning another language is a significant part of this experience and it offers exciting opportunities. although the activities were challenging initially as time passed everything started to flow smoothly.”

social transformation through cultural projects makes a difference in the lives of children and adolescents, positioning culture as an agent of change and opportunity.
